Corporate Governance Principles and Recommendations 4th Edition issued by ASX Corporate Governance Council

Principal 1: Lay solid foundations for management and oversight

ASX Corporate Governance Council's Recommendation (4th Edition) 1.1:

A listed entity should have and disclose a board charter setting out:

- (a) The respective roles and responsibilities of its board and management; and*
- (b) Those matters expressly reserved to the board and those delegated to management.*

The Company has and discloses its formal Board Charter at <https://energymetals.net/corporate-corporate-governance/>. Under the Board Charter, the Board is responsible for the direction and strategy of the Company. It makes decisions on overall control process and corporate governance to protect and promote shareholders' interest. The responsibilities of the Board mainly include:

- Providing strategic direction and establishing goals for management;
- Monitoring the progress and achievement of these goals;
- Identifying business risks and ensuring appropriate risk management in place;
- Approving the appointment of directors and senior executives and their remuneration packages;
- Overseeing management's implementation of the Company's strategic objectives and their performance;
- Approving operating budgets and significant capital expenditure and investments;
- Approving annual and half yearly financial reports.

During the year, the Board's governance priorities and areas of focus included:

The management is responsible for the day-to-day operations and administration of the Company. The management is also responsible to implement and execute the policies and strategy set by the Board.

ASX Corporate Governance Council's Recommendation (4th Edition) 1.2:

A listed entity should disclose:

Under the acquisition agreement with China General Nuclear Power Group (“CGNPC”) in 2009 and the placement agreement with Kang De Investment Group (“Kang De”) in 2010, CGNPC and Kang De can nominate four positions and one position on the Board respectively. Kang De has transferred all its equity interest to Ningbo Weisheng Dingxuan Equity Inv Cap Partnership, who thus can nominate a position on EME’s board. While five directors are nominated by two largest shareholders, the Board brings an independent judgement on business matters and act in the best interests of shareholders as a whole rather than in the interest of an individual shareholder or other party.

When a candidate is standing for election as a director or a senior executive, detailed biographical details, including their relevant qualifications and experience and the skills, are circulated to the Board for consideration. The Board will conduct appropriate checks into the candidate’s background and experience. Confirmation of any other material directorships currently held by the candidate and his/her own interest in the Company’s securities is required from the candidate. The Company will announce to the market once a director is appointed and provide his or her biographical details. The newly appointed director holds office only until the next following annual general meeting and is then eligible for election by shareholders.
